

MOLLY POTTER

emotional literacy & wellbeing

Behaviour Management

This training day is aimed at primary school teachers and explores tools and techniques for positive behaviour management in schools. It connects theory to practice and gives practical tools for dealing with challenging behaviours. It explores the need for routines, consistency, integrity as well as proactive and reactive responses in effective behaviour management.

The course covers

- Reflecting upon your discipline style and developing self-awareness in your approach.
- The balance between control and pupils' wellbeing: the authoritative approach.
- Deepening understanding of negative behaviour in order to more effectively manage it.
- Tools and methods for effectively addressing disruptive and negative behaviours.
- To consider punitive versus restorative approaches to addressing children's misdemeanours.
- How behaviour plans can help.
- To understand the importance of a whole school approach to behaviour management

After working for many years in mainstream schools and ten years in a pupil referral unit, Molly has fine-tuned tools for pupils' behaviour management. Her book 'Behaviour Management' in the 100 ideas for Primary Teachers series includes several of these ideas but as ever – she has more to say on the subject!